It is hard to believe we are halfway through summer already. Children have been out of school for a month already, kids are getting restless at home and the family is running out of fun things to do. Family and MWR is full of opportunities for you to make memories right here in your backyard while you enjoy the rest of your summer vacation. Take the rest of your summer to slow down, relax and enjoy your family and friends. Family and MWR is here to help you do just that!

This month’s magazine feature’s the beauty of the area that is right outside your backdoor. Many of which are in Cumberland Valley or activities that are offered here on Carlisle Barracks. Stop by Outdoor Recreation over by the Commissary and PX to rent the outdoor equipment you may need or sign up for a trip. They have tents, grills, sleeping bags and other camping equipment for rent. Additionally, they have kayaks, paddles and canoes for rental. If you’re not sure what available outdoor fun this area has to offer, Outdoor Recreation will help you find the trip loaded with fun for your whole family. They have guided kayaking, basic and mountain biking and hiking trips. Every trip is different, so it won’t be a problem to find the best trip for your family to enjoy!

If the outdoors isn’t for your family, Carlisle and the surrounding areas offer a wide variety of family activities. Our Leisure Travel Services, located at Carlisle Barracks, Army Heritage Center or Fort Indiantown Gap, is ready to show you all the fantastic places to take your family. They have discount tickets to Hersheypark, Baltimore Aquarium, movie theaters and much more. Downtown Carlisle is full of family fun as well. There are a number of different restaurants with an array of backgrounds and cultures, museums, historic tours, wine tasting and shopping. Gettysburg is just a short drive south that offers history and fun for all ages. You can tour the battlefields, go on ghost tours, see museums or grab a bite to eat downtown. The Cumberland Valley and surrounding areas are full of activities and Family and MWR is here to help you and your family have the best summer possible.

The Directorate of Family and Morale, Welfare and Recreation hope that whether you find our Family and MWR services at Fort Indiantown Gap, Letterkenny Amy Depot or here at Carlisle Barracks that we are helping you find ways to relax, reconnect with family, enjoy time by the pool or in the great outdoors.

In 1940 a branch within the Army was established known as the Morale Division which later became known as “Special Services.” Family and MWR is a group of men and women who provide support and leisure activities to our Soldiers (active duty, Reserve, and Guard) their Families, military retirees, and civilian employees. Currently working in Family and MWR are approximately 37,000 employees worldwide and their mission is to deliver quality programs to Soldiers and their Families.
Summer time is a time for you and your family to relax, enjoy time together and create memories. Family and MWR is here to help you do so! Our organizations offer activities for your kids to attend if you and your spouse want to have a night out or others offer activities for the whole family to enjoy.

We love our cars and nothing goes with cars better than a road trip; freedom from daily schedules, new sights and the open road – it’s great! But there’s nothing like car trouble to bring the fun to a grinding halt.

You can’t always avoid problems, but you can take steps to reduce the probability of getting sidelined on your trip. The first step is to look at your trip plan from your vehicle’s perspective. What kind of roads will you be traveling – winding byways or super-highways? Mountains or plains? What weather conditions are you likely to encounter? How many miles will you travel? Armed with the answers to these questions, you can start a trip inspection to help you prepare your vehicle for your big adventure. A lot of our vehicle owners prefer to go through this planning exercise with an automotive service center performing a trip inspection on their vehicle to get their input and make sure they haven’t left anything out.

A great place to start is the tires. Inspect them for tread wear and proper inflation. Is it time to rotate your tires? Replace them? Are they up to the job – you wouldn’t want to drive regular highway tires on a muddy off-road adventure.

Shocks and struts play a major role in both driving comfort and safety. If they need to be replaced, you’ll really be glad you did once you hit the road. Is it time for a wheel alignment? Fighting a car that’s pulling to one side all day can be tiring and dangerous.

And don’t forget your brakes. Any strange noises, grabbing, soft or hard pedal feel? If there is any doubt, get a brake inspection before you leave.

Moving under the hood, have your belts and hoses inspected. If something is excessively worn or near failure, the stress of a long road trip might just be the straw that breaks the camel’s back.

Your engine air filter will be important. For every gallon of gas you burn, your car will filter and use 12,000 gallons of air. If the filter needs to be changed, you’ll notice the fuel savings on your trip.

How close are you to your next oil change? Will you be able to complete your trip before it’s due? If not, just get it taken care of before you go so that you don’t need to interrupt your trip. In fact, a full service oil change is a great idea because they will top off all your fluids and check to see if any other maintenance items are due, such as transmission or cooling system service.

Do you notice any unusual odors in your vehicle? If so, it could be as harmless as a dirty cabin air filter. But if it’s an exhaust leak it could be fatal on a long trip. Of course you’ll want to be comfortable, so get an air conditioning service if you aren’t getting the cold air you’re used to.

Are your wiper blades still working well? If not, that is quick and inexpensive to fix.

Headlamps are often overlooked when planning for a trip. You should make sure all your lights are working.

All the items mentioned are part of any good vehicle maintenance plan. These are things that you want to take care of anyway, but they all come into focus as you plan for your trip.

Individuals are all different when it comes to food and eating out; some like to eat at the same places, but then you have others that love trying and exploring new types of foods and their cultures. Downtown Carlisle’s restaurant selection can meet the needs of a wide variety of taste buds. Introduce your palate to a variety of delicious culinary styles from around the globe, all within a few short blocks in downtown. Carlisle offers over 30 restaurants in the downtown area, with foods from Southern Spain, Belgian, France, Italy and many more. Listed below are just a few of the top rated and highly talked about restaurants in the downtown area; some have been here for years, others have just opened their doors.

Andalusia, 26 N Hanover Street
The name explains it all for this Spanish and Moroccan Tapas restaurant; Andalusian, the part of Southern Spain that is known for their tapas, unique olive oil, wine and Flamenco. Everything on the menu is served just as you would get in Southern Spain, tapas style. Your server will help explain all the delicious choices and also help you order just the right amount of food, depending on your appetite.

Chen’s Asian Restaurant, 310 N Hanover Street
Chen’s offers a wide array of Chinese, Japanese, Thai and Sushi dishes, such as shrimp with broccoli, sesame chicken, sushi, sashimi and salmon... the menu is HUGE! There is no buffet at Chen’s new restaurant, but there is a sushi bar. They are always having some type of special going on; for example, they do a special with sushi rolls and buy one sushi roll, get the second one for a $1.00, but they also have lunch and dinner specials.

Au Gratin Bistro, 105 N Hanover Street
Au Gratin Bistro recently opened in downtown Carlisle. They offer a variety of dishes like none other in the area. They allow their customers to BYOB to listen to great live music events and family and kid events. Au Gratin wants to keep their customers coming back for more, so they offer delicious lunch and dinner specials daily. Their menu demonstrates a taste of French tradition for the downtown Carlisle area.

Pizza Grille, Carlisle, 1007 Ritner Hwy
Pizza Grille serves award-winning gourmet pizzas, seafood, pasta, sandwiches, homemade soups and grilled specialties. Some local favorites are the Five Cheese Pizza, which includes smoked and fresh Mozzarella, Monterey Jack, Parmesan and Romano cheeses; the Feta & Sun-Dried Tomato salad; and the Spicy Shrimp Caesar salad. They are a stylish and casual dining restaurant that offers covered outdoor seating year round. If you are not in the Carlisle area and want some “simply the best” food, they have two other locations in Camp Hill and Lemoyne.

1794 The Whiskey Rebellion, 10 S Hanover Street
1794 the Whiskey Rebellion is one of Carlisle’s newest eateries! This fine dining place joins a long list of Carlisle’s distinct culinary experiences. The stone fireplace and wooden floors supplement the modern rustic atmosphere to allow their customers to take a step back in time, but still meet their expectations on fine dining. The restaurant is located on the premises of the Comfort Suites Hotel in downtown Carlisle.

Café Bruges, 16 N Pitt Street
Café Bruges is nestled in the historic downtown area of Carlisle. They offer authentic, distinctive but recognizable Belgian cuisine in a welcoming and relaxing atmosphere. The menu offers traditional Belgian mussels, frites and waffles as well as casual favorites like burgers and salads. Café Bruges signature is their ever-changing selection of Belgian beers and ales; they are considered to be among the best in the world.

June 12, 2015 -- In the center of one of the most historic installations in the Army, Carlisle Barracks hosted one of the most important and tradition-rich ceremonies with a change of command and responsibility ceremony for the U.S. Army Garrison June 12, 2015.

Peeples reflected on her time in command and focused the bulk of her remarks on the installation's most important resources -- its people.

"It has been an honor to serve with such an amazing group of dedicated professionals within the Carlisle Barracks and Carlisle Community," she said. "You care about service to the Nation, you care about the mission, you care about your customers, and you care about each other."

"I want to thank each and every one of you for your dedicated support and dedication to our Army, Soldiers and Families -- and I am grateful for the opportunity that I had to lead this Garrison."

Rosado said he would always treasure the welcoming and supportive environment of the Carlisle Barracks community.

"The staff here is phenomenal and made me and my family welcome from day one," he said. "Thank you for what you do every day for our Soldiers and our family members. Thank you for what you do for our community, our Army and our nation. It has been my honor to be your command sergeant major."

Peeples and Rosado served as the command team at Carlisle Barracks more than two years, a time that saw many changes in Post's landscape. Many quality-of-life initiatives came to fruition and completion during their time here to include the completion and opening of the Sg t. Andrew McConnell Youth Center, the final phase of construction of brand-new housing, the fielding of a second fire company, as well as the upgrading of the electrical, water distribution and fiber optic systems.

"This command team postured the garrison for continued success on its path to accomplish its base operations mission now and in the future," said Davis Tindoll, director of the Atlantic Region for Installation Management Command, and the officiating officer. "They effectively and efficiently managed installation resources during a time of unprecedented uncertainty, including the impact of sequestration. They have demonstrated to the entire Army the standard for consistent, quality services and support."

While each of the projects presented their own unique challenges, the experience and expert support she received from the staff and Army War College leadership ensured success, according to Peeples.

"While I am proud of these tremendous accomplishments, what sets Carlisle Barracks apart is that extra step without being asked," she said. "It is as simple as a warm smile when a parent drops off their child at day care after having a rough morning, an off duty visit from our firefighters and police officers to ensure everything is going ok, a staff member walking in the opposite direction to ensure a visitor finds their way, co-workers attending key events for each other celebrating life and honoring death. This list is endless.

Peeples will remain at Carlisle Barracks as a member of the USAWC Class of 2016 and Rosado is assuming a staff position here.

Ank said that he and Maldonado were honored to be chosen to assume the leadership of the Garrison.

“i’ve had multiple senior officers and NCOs describe Carlisle Barracks and its supportive community as a magical place,” he said. “Command Sargent Major Maldonado and I are extremely fortunate, blessed and ready to be the next temporary custodians to lead this talented team.”

For generations, Army spouses have operated lending closets and thrift shops, brought food to comfort a family during times of crisis, served as mentors and role models for younger spouses, assisted in emergencies and lent a hand when needed. These grassroots efforts supported an important need to keep the Army Family ready, resilient and stable. During the Vietnam War, Army officials saw the need to organize these important social services so that they could be maintained on a consistent level. Many times these important programs would suffer when dedicated volunteers moved on to their next duty station.

In 1963, LTC Emma Marie Baird was selected to establish a program addressing the growing needs of military families. She recognized that as the composition of the Army changed, the normal problems of family life combined with the special circumstances of military living affected the morale and retention of active duty soldiers. Many who would have made the Army a career left due to pressure from family members dissatisfied with military life. LTC William Rooney was assigned as the social work consultant. Both he and LTC Baird had worked with the Army Emergency Relief program established during World War II and modeled the new Army Community Service program along the same guidelines as the AER program.

On July 25, 1965, General Harold K. Johnson, Army Chief of Staff, dispatched a letter to all major commanders announcing the approval and establishment of the Army Community Service (ACS), making it an official entity. Over 20 years earlier the Army Emergency Relief (AER) program was created as an important resource for Soldiers and their Families having financial difficulties. Incorporated in 1942 by the Secretary of War and the Chief of Staff of the Army it was funded by donations from the American public and Soldiers. In fact, Irving Berlin created the biggest and best-known morale-boosting show of World War II, “This is the Army,” to raise money for the military. The musical comedy was so popular it went on to a national tour and was eventually made into a movie, starring the handsome young Lt. Ronald Reagan. Profits of over 10 million dollars were donated to the Army Emergency Relief fund and brought us such memorable tunes as “God Bless America,” “This is the Army Mr. Jones” and “Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning.” Throughout the history of Army Community Service, its volunteers (mainly Army spouses) have ensured the success and support of ACS programs.

Army Community Service continued to grow and change to meet the needs of the entire Army Family, including active duty and retired military personnel and their Family members. Members of the Army National Guard (ARNG) and U.S. Army Reserve (USAR), when on active duty and during post deployment and their Family members, civilian employees and their Family members. In 1995, an official mission statement for ACS was established: to facilitate a commander’s ability to provide comprehensive, coordinated and responsive services that support readiness of Soldiers, civilian employees and their Families.

The core programs and services provided by ACS Centers have grown from its early days to include: Army Family Action Plan, Army Family Team Building, Army OneSource, Army Volunteer Corps, Exceptional Family Member, Family Advocacy, Financial Readiness, Information and Referral, Relocation Readiness, Soldier and Family Assistance Center, Spouse Employment, Survivor Outreach Services, Transitional Compensation and Victim Advocacy.

ACS continues to grow and evolve to meet the changing needs of the global Army Family. The Carlisle Barracks Army Community Service celebration will take place July 31st from 4 pm – 7 pm at the “Splash Zone” Pool and pavilion. This free celebration is open to everyone and will include free food, music, games, prizes, swimming and ice cream. Please join us to celebrate!

free! everyone welcome!
U.S. Army War College Memorial Chapel invites you to be a part of this year’s Vacation Bible School (VBS).

VBS is part of our Religious Education Program here at Carlisle Barracks. This is definitely the highlight of our summer! Children aged 4 through 6th grade may register to participate at the chapel.

We have over one hundred volunteers who help during these events. Adults, college age and teens 7th grade and up may volunteer! For the safety of the children, which is our main priority, all volunteers will be background checked.

If you would like to help out with this event, please contact the Chapel at 717-245-3318 to register as a volunteer.

This year's theme is “Hometown Nazareth, Where Jesus Was A Kid.” Children step back in time at Hometown Nazareth, exploring what it was like to live in the town where Jesus grew up. Kids participate in a memorable Bible-times marketplace, sing catchy songs, play teamwork-building games, dig into Bible-times snacks, visit Jesus’ mom, Mary, and collect Bible Memory Makers to remind them of God’s Word. Plus, everyone learns to look for evidences of God all around them through something called God Sightings.

Each day concludes at Celebration—a time of upbeat worship that gets everyone involved.

Kids and adults at Hometown Nazareth will collect nonperishable food for Project Share, a local food bank that helps feed the needy of Carlisle.
